Press Release – Severals, Kafkaesque

Four-piece band Severals from Pilsen, Czech Republic, is slowly but surely uncovering their debut LP Algorithm, having so far released 4 singles and one music video.

“In pursuit of growth and success, one often has to make sacrifices, put their integrity on the line and ruin the lives of others, becoming ever more selfish and indifferent to the ones around them. Superficial success has its price”

This is the idea behind the theme of the song Kafkaesque, which creates a dark atmosphere with heavy guitar riffs accompanied by dark electronic elements and synths. The song also features an unexpected guest – American rapper Sinizter who’s seen rapid growth in his genre in the past few years and his performance pushes the song even further.

Kafkaesque, just as the whole LP was recorded in the private studio owned by Pavel Chyska, a Prague-based producer – his portfolio includes bands like Fall from Everest, Lighthouse keeper and his own band Monsters and Motherships. Mix and Master was done by Australia’s Lance Prenc, who has worked on music by bands including Thornhill, Alpha Wolf, Polaris and Diamond Construct.

The music video was written, filmed, directed and produced by Severals Frontman Dominik Fencel and it stars Boris Alexander in two parallel stories of one individual.

The first story depicts our hero being introduced to a care-free life of luxury, as he’s brought into a high-end apartment, given plenty of food, drink and entertainment. He tastes the life of success, but he’s soon met with the reality that nothing is free, he accomplishes nothing.

The parallel story shows him being thrown into a dirty dungeon, where he must fight for himself. He shows strength and determination by brute force, as he ultimately earns his freedom and escapes captivity. However, he pays a heavy price as he puts his goal above all and he takes another person’s life.

What will the rest of Algorithm be like? We’ll find out this December, when the album releases in full.
